Susan G. Komen Greater NYC and our community partners provided 104,152 New Yorkers with life-saving breast health screening, treatment and support services, and education.
Thanks to you, our dedicated donors, volunteers, and friends, Susan G. Komen Greater NYC continues to be the local leader in the fight against breast cancer, ensuring that women like Joy Parks (who you will read about later) will live to see their children grow up. Joy credits the breast cancer diagnostic and treatment services she received with her survival. Joy is forever grateful to you.

Thanks to your support, Komen Greater NYC awarded $2.3 million in grants to fund local breast health screening, treatment, support and education programs and $700,000 to fund critical breast cancer research to find the cures in our 2013-2014 program year.

Unbelievably, 1,314 cases of breast cancer were diagnosed — breast cancer that might otherwise have been undetected — giving these women a better chance at survival — thanks to you.

Komen Greater NYC looks forward to continuing to partner with you — we are honored to have you by our side. Together, we will eradicate breast cancer!

DOLLARS RAISED SINCE 1999: $75 MILLION

KOMEN GREATER NYC’S MISSION

We work locally to save lives, ensure quality care for all, and invest in research to find the cures for breast cancer.
Because hundreds of thousands of people have participated in the Race for the Cure® and other fundraisers, Komen Greater NYC has raised nearly $65 million to date.

Joy goes through multiple surgeries, chemo and radiation treatment and is now a breast cancer survivor.

Joy celebrates her survivor status by participating in the Komen Greater NYC Race for the Cure.

Joy Parks is diagnosed with breast cancer.

Joy receives vital and ongoing case management, patient advocacy and support services from St. Luke’s Roosevelt Hospitals/SHARE, a Komen Greater NYC-funded community partner.

Komen Greater NYC invests funds raised at the Race and our other events in grants to community partners.
Komen Greater NYC invested $735,000 in national breast cancer research programs to find the cures and granted $2.2 million to 31 breast health community partners.

“Komen Greater NYC gave the grant to Dr. Ma’s program so that I could get a biopsy immediately. The longer you wait, the more things progress and everything was one-two-three, I didn’t have to wait for nothing. Cancer is hard. I fought like hell to be here. I’m grateful, extremely grateful to Komen Greater NYC for those tests. You saved my life.”

“When (Yvette) called me yesterday, she was in tears, overwhelmed by her unpaid rent, medications she couldn’t afford, food stamps, etc. She called me back today in tears again, but happy tears. She was so thankful that NYLAG would be helping her. She loved your forceful but compassionate style of helping her untangle her issues. She said she is now feeling more hopeful.”
